Willow Bend Farm Pre-Tour Guide

We, at Willow Bend Farm, would love to have you tour our farm! To help us all have a fun-filled experience on the farm, please:

1. Read the following information below.
2. Complete this form on line (willowbendfarms.com, go to the "Farm Tours" page) or mail, page two with your group information;
3. After the tour, provide feedback regarding the questions on page three.

Before The Farm Tour:

Pre-Tour Learning: Be sure to visit our website www.willowbendfarms.com. If you go to to the "Farm Tours" page on our website, the first video is "Willow Bend Farm". This video is not specifically made for children but gives a great overview of our farm. "How to Feed a Calf" and "Farm It Maybe" videos each star New York Dairy Farm kids on their respective families' New York dairy farms. The "Life on a Dairy Farm" is a more detailed video about dairy farming in New York and features another dairy farm in the Finger Lakes Area.

Here is another link you may want to explore to prepare your group for the big day:

Groups & Times: Traditionally, we divide tour groups into three rotating stations and provide a tour that lasts at least 1 ½-2 hours long. However, we can customize the tour to work in many different ways, for different durations and covering different types of content. Just let us know what you have in mind and together we can make a plan. We are flexible!

Restroom Facilities: We do have one basic bathroom in the milk center.

Buses: Buses will have plenty of space to park on the farm.

Name Tags: These are optional, but they really help facilitate more interaction and discussion with the students.

Clothing: The students will be both outside in the weather (and sometimes mud!) and in unheated barns. Please have everyone dress appropriately for visiting a farm and the weather of the day.

We would love to know:

What did you really like?

What would've made your experience better?

Did you have enough information to prepare for the tour?

Did the tour feel safe, fun and comfortable?

Did the information meet and complement your curriculum goals?

Would you like to come again?

Do you have other comments?

THANK YOU!
